Biography or Historical Sketch

James Wilson Cassell was a medical doctor based in New York who was also an amateur photographer. He was active in masonic organizations. He often used his collection of magic lantern slides for travel talks at masonic lodges. Born in Kentucky, Cassell moved with his family first to Chicago and then to California where he began his medical studies. He received his medical degree in New York City, where he practiced medicine as an ophthalmologist. The collection was donated by David Wilson on September 20, 2000.

Series Description or Arrangement

The collection was left in original order.

Scope and Content Notes

Most of the slides have Beseler Lantern Slide Company printed on the mounts, but it is unclear whether some of the slides were part of educational sets sold by that company or whether that company only processed and possibly hand-colored Dr. Cassell's own photographs. The collection of approximately 1,912 slides consists mostly of travel images of foreign places and archaeological sites, but also contains photographs from the United States. Less than 150 images have been scanned for online access at this point; those slides with Mexican content appear to date from the early 1920s. The scanned images are available to view here:

Notes to the Researcher

The collection contains approximately 1,901 lantern slides. Dr. Cassell mostly took his own photographs in the different countries. The slides show a wide range of interests from national monuments to medical practices, and from the people who lived there to architecture. The appearance of the people's clothing and methods of transportation suggest that the photographic travels occurred between 1920 and 1930. There are some damaged slides due to broken or cracked glass. There are also a few misspellings in the slide titles, perhaps from the processor. The majority of the slides were taken by Dr. Cassell. Many of the slides are images of Mexico and the pyramids of Uxmal. There are several slide collections that are professionally photographed or processed: America Colony Photographers; Beseler Lantern Slide Co.; Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church; Egypt (the Cairo Museum); Greece (Temples); E. G. Wood, London; Fr. Verser & Company, Palestine; George. Kanzee Lantern Slide & Projection Expert; H. C. White Co. Publishers; Interchurch World Movement of North America; Novelty Slide Inc.; Riley Optical Instrument Co.; Standard Slide Corp., New York; and The Flower Studios.

The container list includes the original box numbers, as well as the current box numbers. There are a total of thirty- seven boxes (37) boxes. There are three "Overflow Boxes" (34, 35, 36). "Not Dated" is listed as ND. A few original lantern slide boxes were kept as examples of how the collection was originally stored.
